

Each client scores both candidates on its own held-out data

No client ever sees a candidate model, and no per-example label is decrypted.

Combined and compared under encryption

The two scores themselves are never revealed, so no client's accuracy on its own data is disclosed to the others.